The Radical Chicago convention has been for two days the topic of discussion in tinangial and commercial, as well as political, circles. The effect has been to withdraw the minds of men from business, and the result everywhere is stagnation to business, Louisville torning no exception to the general rule.

rule.

In the general markets there is nothing transpring worthy of special notice. In all of the leading commodities prices are steely. The changes are light and unimportant.

The provision warket remains quotably and changed, with a limited consumptive dechanged, with a limited consumptive de-
